Audit shows discrepancies in EOC spending

By ROGER KRAMER
of the Press-Record

The Illinois Department of Commerce and Community Affairs (DCCA) is questioning the expenditure of nearly $1 million by the Madison County Economic Opportunity Commission (EOC) in three federally-funded programs to help the poor.

Tom Laue, a spokesman for DCCA, said if the state agency cannot determine where the money has gone, DCCA has the option of turning the matter over to law enforcement officers. However, Laue said the DCCA is not prepared to take such action presently.

THE AUDITING firm of Clifton, Gunderson and Co. of Peoria, Ill., questioned the funds in the weatherization, energy assistance and Community Services block grants. The funds are more than 20 percent of the $4.6 million from five federal grants channeled through DCCA to EOC to administer the programs in Madison County.

EOC will be granted a grievance hearing concerning the DCCA audit sometime this month. The EOC Board of Directors learned during a special meeting Saturday that Mark Kullion, an independent attorney from Springfield, will conduct the grievance hearing to clear up EOC's questions on the audit.

An EOC grievance filed after the preliminary audit findings Oct. 18 said many of the financial problems of the commission have been caused by delays in receiving state funds. EOC said none of the errors are intentional.

A BOARD of directors member, who wished not to be identified, said, "There has been no money stolen and no money mismanagement. We feel we have done nothing wrong. DCCA spent thousands and thousands of taxpayers' dollars (on the audit) and came up with nothing."

DCCA questioned the EOC's weatherization program heavily.

Expenditures of $677,317 from April 1982 through June 1983 were questioned because EOC spent $230,793 more than the federal government had given it, according to the audit. EOC later transferred $291,154 from the allocation from the Illinois Home Energy Assistance Program (IHEAP) as a loan to the weatherization program.

THE AUDIT began in June after 32 of 42 homes which EOC reported under the weatherization program were not repaired as required. EOC also held $256,983 in checks written to Union Electric Co. and Illinois Power Co. under the IHEAP program for electricity and gas for the poor. Since then, DCCA has removed EOC's authorization to run the IHEAP program and has given it to the Madison County Community Development department, an agency of the Madison County Board. The audit indicated EOC's management practices may have been partly responsible for the cash-flow problems in the weatherization program. For instance, the audit found:

—EOC'S SUBSIDIARY not-for-profit corporation, Energy Conservation Services, sold $5,353 of rubber sealant to the weatherization program, but auditors said the sealant was useless because it would not stick to wood or roofing shingles.

—Failure of inventory records to show receipt of windows, door and supplies which were reported transferred between EOC's storage facilities.

—The purchase of 5,000 bags of insulation for $3.90 when EOC awarded a bid for $3.15 a bag.

—The purchase of 72 vents at $17.78 last year even though the bid price was $4.14.

Head Start wants EOC to free it

The Madison County Economic Opportunity Commission (EOC) has every intention of remaining the sponsoring agency of the county's Head Start program, despite demands of the Head Start director that EOC cut ties with Head Start.

JOHN ERVIN, president of the EOC Board of Directors, said Saturday EOC will apply for sponsorship of the program in mid-December.

again. "We're going to make application as we always have," Ervin said. "We feel Madison County EOC is still capable of administering the program and we're going to try to keep it."

The Bank of Alton froze $155,648 in EOC deposits Friday because EOC owed $250,000 in loans. The action prevented all EOC employees from

EOC board reduces director's powers

By ROGER KRAMER
of the Press-Record

At a special meeting Saturday, the Madison County Economic Opportunity Commission (EOC) revoked the authority of its executive director, Ruben Williams, to sign contracts and other documents involved with the day-to-day operation of EOC.

The EOC Board of Directors voted in the special meeting to revoke the authorization it gave Williams to enter EOC into those agreements and approve proposals. The board of directors is now solely responsible for the day-to-day operation of the agency.

THE ONLY reason given by the board for revoking the authority is to remove the confusion between Williams and the board of directors. The authorization for Williams to enter into agreements and sign contracts on behalf of the agency was given him by the board at the Jan. 4, 1983, meeting.

The decision stems from Williams' decision to enter EOC into a loan (Continued on Page 3)

Auctions of schools

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

The Granite City school district hopes to begin selling off some of its properties this winter. Proceeds would go into the treasury to meet operating costs and debt retirement.

Unused grade school buildings will be the scenes of six auctions this week:

Thursday, Dec. 8—Johnson at 9:30 a.m., Nameoki at 11 a.m. and Lake at 1:30 p.m.

Friday, Dec. 9—Emerson at 9:30 a.m., Logan at 11 and Washington at 1:30 p.m.

SOME BIDDING is expected, but there may be no interest in several of the buildings. The Madison County Regional Board of School Trustees will conduct the auctions, with the Granite City Board of Education retaining the right to accept or reject any and all bids.

These and other potential sales may prove to be controversial.

Various neighborhoods would like to see their schools reopened in future years, and there is sentiment on the board for retaining one or more of the structures in the event boom times and bigger enrollments return.

McKinley and Stallings schools were sold in past years and Washington was rented out for several years as a site for college

GC finances improve

By GEORGEANN MCGEE
of the Press-Record

In Roman mythology, King Aeneas of Elys housed 3,000 oxen in a stable that was neglected for 30 years. Eventually, he was faced with the problem of cleaning out the stalls.

In the introduction to Granite City's annual financial report, Comptroller Joseph Milkovic, refers to that ancient tale to explain the fiscal challenges ahead, as he reviews the past budget year, March 1982 to April 1983.

KING AENEAS had to call on Hercules to reroute the Alpheus and Peneus rivers to solve his foul dilemma. The comptroller predicts the city will be mired in its own "Aeneas' stable" unless officials keep up their own Herculean efforts to hold down city spending.

Aldermen did succeed in bringing the city from a poor to a fair financial condition during the past budget year, he says. In 1982, the general fund finished $47,364 in the red. This year, the budget made a positive swing of several hundred thousand dollars to end $46,774 in the black.

While a rein on spending helped, also responsible for the cash surplus was the flow of revenue from the city's 3/4 percent sales tax and the 3 percent telephone tax.

THOSE FIGURES come from the 109-page annual report compiled by the comptroller and his accounting staff. The statistics were reviewed by Fox and Co., St. Louis auditing firm, and recently released in a bound volume.

Despite improvement in the general fund, the city's two enterprise funds, for the sewage treatment plant and ambulances, lagged noticeably. Income losses mounted by $400,000 in the treatment plant fund, and the ambulance service fund suffered a $319,988 earnings deficit. Both those losses are compounded by previous bad years.

In an effort to balance the losses this 1983-84 budget year, sewage treatment fees have been raised and the ambulance department is being partially combined with the fire department.

GC studies heating inspections

By GEORGEANN MCGEE
of the Press-Record

Fireplaces, wood-burning stoves and solar power devices are included in new installation and inspection categories being considered by the Granite City Council.

The new law would replace the present warm air heating regulations. The current ordinance falls to provide for safety inspections of more modern equipment, Monroe Brewer, city engineer, said Wednesday.

THE COUNCIL approved the first reading of the formally titled "Mechanical Contractors' code" at its last session. Aldermen are expected to act on the proposed ordinance next Tuesday.

Monroe said the present inspection law had originally been written when coal was the primary source of heat and had to be updated to include air conditioning units. Contractor David McFarland, member of the city board which monitors heating and air conditioner repair and installation, said the law now leaves a "big void" in the inspection of some private and commercial contractors' work.

AS AN EXAMPLE, he cited the present exclusion of wood-burning stoves. "A lot of wood-burning (Continued on Page 5)

Missouri Avenue resurfacing bid

Bids will be opened Friday, Dec. 9, by the Illinois Department of Transportation in Springfield on resurfacing 1.48 miles of Missouri Avenue between 26th Street and Pontoon Road. The engineer's estimate of the cost of the work is $185,000.

The work will begin on the former Route 3 just north of the A.O. Smith Corp. plant.

THE PROJECT is among 67 road improvements statewide for which bids will be opened Friday. Other area projects out for bid include construction of the complete deck for a railroad grade separation structure (overpass) on piers and abutments to carry the new Interstate 255 over the Illinois Central Gulf Railroad and Church road in Centerville.

Bids also will be sought to remove and replace the three superstructures on Route 15 over Route 157, over the Hardin Ditch and over the ICG Railroad, all in Centerville. The work includes bridge approach pavement at all three locations.

APPLICATION of herbicide weed control spray mixture on all slopes and interchange infields along the right-of-way of various routes in Madison and St. Clair counties also is to be bid upon.

Area projects also include the reconstruction of the intersection of Route 3 (the Bern Highway) and Ridge Street in Alton and furnishing and installing a traffic signal system at Route 157 and Eastport Drive in Collinsville.

Sought by St. Joseph, Mo., authorities on a warrant and unable to post $15,000 bond, Young agreed to waive extradition to Missouri at a court hearing Thursday in Granite City.

Stephens announces candidacy for state representative race

Ron Stephens, owner of Hub Drugs in Granite City, announced his candidacy for representative in the General Assembly from the 110th Legislative District of Illinois at a 7 p.m. gathering Friday. Stephens, 35, won the Republican nomination for state representative in 1982, losing in the general election to Democrat Mike Slape of Peohontas. The 110th District includes portions of Bond, Clinton, Madison and St. Clair counties, including the cities of Caseyville, Collinsville, Fairview Heights, O'Fallon, Lebanon and Highland.

"We ran very well in 1982," said Stephens. "We were facing a two-term incumbent with strong backing from his party's organization and special interest groups. We started with less than three percent name recognition, yet we took more than 47 percent of the vote in what turned out to be a terrible year for the Republican party."

Stephens noted that he has been contacted by individuals throughout the district, asking him to run again in 1984. Because of the name recognition gained in 1982, Stephens expects to be able to focus on issues in 1984. "Mike Slape's record of support for Chicago interests and the Cook County Democratic Machine is almost unparalleled among downstate legislators, Republican or Democrat," said Stephens.

"Mike Slape consistently votes for Chicago projects, yet he fails to vote for projects that will benefit the 110th District," he contended. Stephens cited as examples Slape's failure to vote for a bill to increase funding for Southern Illinois road construction projects and Slape's vote against a measure that would have allowed the city of Collinsville to tax paramilitary receipts at Fairmont Park Race track. "There are 36 very capable representatives from the city of Chicago," noted Stephens. "They don't need a champion from Peohontas. The 110th District has only one representative in the General Assembly. We need a representative who will listen to the people of our district, voice their concerns in Springfield and work with state and local officials to find solutions to their problems," said Stephens.

He said he would challenge Slape to debate in each of the major communities in the district. "He can pick the format, he can name the time and place. We won't reject any reasonable opportunity. The issue is his record and I hope he chooses to defend it."

Stephens has served on the Caseyville Village Board of Trustees since 1981. He is the owner and operator of Union Prescription Center in Belleville in addition to owning Hub Drugs in Granite City. Stephens is married and is the father of five children. He and his wife, Karen, reside in Caseyville.

$253 BEING REPAID AFTER BURGULARY AND THEFT CASE

Thomas Melton, 19, Alton, has been sentenced by Circuit Judge P.J. O'Neill to serve 18-month probation and has been ordered to make restitution of $103 on a Madison area burglary charge filed June 27.

Regarding a related Madison area burglary count which was amended to petty theft, Melton will be on probation for a year and is to make restitution of $150. Guilty pleas were submitted Sept. 9 and the sentence was announced later this fall.

ARRESTED ON DUI WARRANT

William Kee, 30, of 2228 Ohio Ave. was arrested at home last week on a 1983 warrant alleging driving under the influence of alcohol; he was detained overnight. Arrested at the same time and place was Gerald Stafford, 22, of 2417 Dewey Ave., who was freed on $152 bail on a warrant charging unlicensed driving.

Updating computer, child care, drafting curriculum

Each year the Granite City Vocational Advisory Council, made up of members from business and industry, picks specific vocational programs at the high school to evaluate. This year, the council will be evaluating vocational child care, vocational drafting and computer principles.

Experts in these areas have joined the Advisory Council in an effort to make curriculum changes that will best emulate current practices in business and industrial community, a spokesman said.

The council met last week at GCHS. After an introduction by Tom Holloway, director of vocational and career education, and individual divisions met in their respective departments at the high school.

The home economics department was represented by Millie Collins, department chairman and Cathy Reibold and Linda Wilson. The Advisory Council members present were Phyllis Weiss, interior design representative, Inis Gann, Happy Day Child Care Center, Mary Beth McGovern, Montessori Center, Marjorie Ash, Tri-City Park Development Center, and Sara Rapp, Little Lamb Center.

Madison School Board must replace former president

By SUSAN SIGNAIGO-WEICH
of the Press-Record

Members of the Madison School Board began their meeting Thursday night with a moment of silence for former board member and president, Sam Dymas, who died of cancer a week ago and was buried Saturday.

Mr. Dymas was re-elected to his third four-year term on the Madison Community District 12 board in the Nov. 8 election. He had just completed his second three-year term having served since April 1977. Mr. Dymas was re-elected a president of the board at a meeting held two weeks ago.

"HE DID A lot of good and a lot of loving with young people," said Madison School Superintendent John Falchett. "He was very active in sports and schools, but his main love was children."

The board has a little over three weeks left before it must select on a replacement for Mr. Dymas, since, according to Falchett, the board has 30 days after a board member's death to fill the vacancy.

Falchett said the members will simply bring in a "list of names" of possible new members and the simple majority vote will pick the new board member. "Replacing a deceased board member is strictly a board function, but if an agreement on a person cannot be reached within 30 days, then the regional superintendent of schools steps in and makes an appointment." SO FOR THE board to meet the 30 day deadline, a new member will have to be installed at the next meeting on Thursday, Dec. 15, unless a special meeting of the board is called.

Also, since Mr. Dymas was the president of the board, a new president will have to be selected. Falchett said he has no idea when a new president will be picked.

But Board Member Paul Bargiel said he thinks that the board will probably wait until a new board member is appointed before a new president will be installed.

THE REST of the board meeting was shortened because of Mr. Dymas' visitation arrangements, but correspondence was read.

Action included the school board's agreement with Coordinated Youth to help each other in enforcing the district's truancy policy, and the approval of the DeMolay organization's use of the Louis Baer School gym for some of their upcoming events this year.

Also read was a letter from Foster Homes, thanking the school board for sending information home with the students about foster children. Falchett said apparently, the organization had received some phone calls from families who would be willing to take in these foster children.

Building permits

stoves are not going in right," said McFarland of Amco Heating and Cooling, 2900 Cleveland Blvd. The contractor said some are being installed with faulty flues, because often homeowners set aside a certain amount of money to purchase such a stove, but fail to provide for a proper flue.

He called the proposed ordinance a safety regulation that is long overdue in the community. Other neighboring municipalities already have such provisions in their laws, he said. The new ordinance is modeled after the Building Officials Conference of America code.

THE CITY engineer said the main effect the new regulations would have on the private homeowners would be the expanded categories requiring city permits. Those include heat reclaiming devices, unit heaters, space heaters requiring gas lines and electronic air cleaners, among other installations.

The law is not intended to regulate simple home appliances not connected to heating ducts.

The new law would raise the limit for minor residential repair work or alterations needing no permit from $100 to $500. The commercial work limit would be raised to $750.

THE MAJOR affect on commercial contractors would be the creation of four licensing classes for mechanical contractors. In the past, contractors working on projects ranging from the installation of a home furnace to the installation of a heating system for a large apartment building.

Brewer said the change will allow a small-scale residential or commercial contractor to be issued a certification of registration without having to pass the more stringent commercial tests.

A CERTIFICATION of registration is required of all contractors working for profit, but is not required for homeowners or family members working on their own property.

The first step a homeowner should take before hiring a someone to make mechanical repairs is to check for his certificate of registration. The city engineer said, many people supplement their incomes with such repair work, Brewer said, but "they don't necessarily know what they're doing."

Even good contractors make mistakes, Brewer said. The proposed ordinance should give homeowners a reasonable assurance they wouldn't have a problem — like burning the house down," he said.

THE CITY engineer said the public often suspects additional permits are used as a revenue-producing device, but, in this instance, the purpose of the proposed law would be to provide an inspection service to residents.

Eighty percent of the permit fees currently go to the inspector and would under the new law. The new fee schedule is $10 for each permit, plus the various costs of work category. For example, a solar heating permit would cost a total of $20.

Mayor Paul Schuler asked the aldermen to study the ordinance carefully before voting on it next Tuesday.

Finances improve

argues the ambulance department is a necessity and should not be held responsible for producing its own income, any more than the police or fire departments are expected to be self-sufficient.

THE SEWAGE treatment plant's financial problems may be alleviated sometime during the 1980s if the plant becomes a regional center. Last month, the city received state approval to prepare the groundwork for an eventual Granite City Regional Sewage System that would include the Metro-East Sanitary District, the Madison County Sanitary Sewers Service Area One and the village of Glen Carbon.

The annual report shows a 10 percent increase in general government revenues last year, compared to a 17 percent increase the preceding year. Last year was the first full year of income from the city sales and utility taxes.

Revenues from city business and licensing fees fell almost 22 percent, mainly due to construction cutbacks in a sluggish economy, according to Miklovic's introductory statement.

THE COMPTROLLER recorded a 105 percent increase in revenues charged for city services — $119,421 to $237,414. Miklovic attributes that rise to his campaign to collect for damages done to city property, the uncovering and subsequent billing of various services to other taxing bodies and the hiring of a part-time clerk to pursue parking meter violations.

Total revenues for the city during 1982-83 budget year were $8.05 million, an increase of $738,875. City expenditures, meanwhile, decreased by three percent to $7.15 million. As a result, the city was able to pay off the remaining $600,000 debt, all that remained of the $1.8 million needed in 1981, when the city faced a financial crisis and hired the comptroller.

IN HIS ANNUAL report, the comptroller stresses the need for the city to continue employing financial professionals that have the technical capabilities to run the city's $30 million investment as efficiently as possible. Miklovic is a certified public accountant.

"In the past, without the city comptroller, the responsibility levels of monitoring (budgetary) controls bordered on the 'weak-side' to nonexistent," Miklovic stated.

To demonstrate his point, the comptroller outlined $250,000 in annual savings which he believes his office directly contributed to the city. He estimates the $250,000 savings would total nearly to $2 million if calculated over the expected 20-year life of his position.

THE ITEMS include a $36,440 saving due to the comptroller's objection to certain insurance premium increases and his objection to claims of former employers. The comptroller also cites $33,321 saved through his monitoring of the city's annual report and pension plans, rather than relying on outside firms.

He also finds savings were realized by his investigation into city franchise and contract agreements.

MIKLOVIC said he is most proud of his success in computerizing the city accounts and budget process. Falling back on his Roman analogy to sum up the progress he believes he and his staff have made following the 1981 city fiscal crisis, Miklovic quotes in the annual report on Julius Caesar's famous dispatch sent after a battle of victory. "Veni, Vidi, Vici." ("I came, I saw, I conquered.")

Deputies' anger grows

The dispute over sheriff deputies' pay and benefits is intensifying and retaliation is being predicted.

Convinced that financially-squeezed Madison County ought to improve its contract offer, deputies are angry.

They say they may escalate the month-long informational picketing to a work stoppage by non-deputy jail staff members and communication workers. No date has been set.

DEPUTIES ALSO are talking about opposing some of the 29 County Board members if they seek reelection in their districts, or trying to change the board to a five-commissioner panel elected countywide. The latter would require referendum approval.

The board decided Nov. 30 not to submit bargaining issues to binding arbitration. That idea had been proposed by Operating Engineers Local 520-C, which represents about 100 sheriff department employees.

Disappointment was voiced by the workers' spokesman, Lieut. Conrad "Pete" Baetz. He noted that deputies have made some contract concessions but that they think the county should pay for $50,000 in added insurance costs.

THE BOARD IS READY to continue negotiations but "the bottom line is that it cannot cost the county any more money. We cannot afford it," Board Member Alan Dunstan commented.

Officials say deputies average $32,500 a year, second highest for county deputies in the state. Deputies note that board members receive $5,500 yearly for part-time service and have full insurance coverage.

Strikes by peace officers are barred, but county law enforcement services would be hampered if deputies had to substitute for non-deputy employees at the county jail.

Board reduces powers before informing the board of directors of the action. John Ervin, president of the board, said Williams acted in good faith and did nothing wrong, in his opinion.

The board also created an ad hoc committee which will serve for 90 days to make recommendations and take actions necessary to make EOC a viable agency for the administration of programs. The committee also will appoint a loan executive to work on a daily basis with Williams to solve the financial problems of the agency.

WILBUR TRIMPE, former president of Lewis & Clark Community

College in Godfrey, was named chairman of the committee. Harry Butten, executive director of the Alton Chamber of Commerce, Willie Walker, president of the Madison County Urban League, and Marguerite Bohannon, director of the Oasis Crisis Center, also were named to the committee.

The board did not appoint the fifth member of the committee, but it specified that member will be from the Quad-City area.

"We're not about to roll over and die," said Gary Doerr, a board of directors member from Alton.

Rose Bowl tickets go on sale

CHAMPAIGN—Rose Bowl tickets for University of Illinois student season ticket holders will be on sale from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Dec. 13, at the Assembly Hall, the university has announced.

Sales for faculty-staff season ticket holders are scheduled for Monday, Dec. 5, during the same hours at the same location.

Students will be eligible to purchase one ticket each by showing their student ID card and evidence that they held a 1983 season football ticket. They should bring their season ticket stub if they still have it, but the Athletic Association also will be able to check on season ticket purchase through a computerized list.

The tickets will be available for pickup in California, where the same evidence of student status will be required.

"This policy of local sales and California pickup is set by the Rose Bowl, not by the university," said Vice Chancellor for Administration Donald F. Wendel.

Each faculty-staff season ticket holder will be eligible to purchase two Rose Bowl tickets. The same procedures will apply—purchasers will have to show faculty-staff identification and evidence of season ticket purchase both when they buy the tickets in Illinois and when they pick them up in California.

"The exact number of tickets available for sale will be known after the Pac Ten conference representative has been determined," Wendel said.

"A contract with the Big Ten allows approximately 1,000 more tickets for the Big Ten representative in the event a school other than USC or UCLA is the representative of the Pac Ten. It's also possible that we might pick up some additional tickets if Washington wins, because of the greater distance fans would have to travel," he said.

Sales of Alumni Association tours began Monday, Nov. 14. Further information on the tours is available from Donald Dodds, vice president of the Alumni Association, at (217) 333-1471.

THE ROSE BOWL

Illinoisans set to go 'bowling'

By Michael Murphy
SPRINGFIELD — Fighting Illinoisans of all persuasions — downstaters, Chicagoans and otherwise — haven't spent the holidays in Southern California for the better part of a generation.

More than 40,000 University of Illinois graduates have come and gone since Jan. 1, 1964, the date of Illinois' last appearance at the Tournament of Roses' festivities. Because it's been so long — and because Southern California is, well, Southern California — the U of I has been overwhelmed by ticket demand.

It has come, for instance, from Illini fans who were taking care of toddlers — or just thinking about having them — the last time a Rose Bowl opportunity presented itself. Now, some of those toddlers are U of I undergrads, and they're bound for the Rose Bowl — along with Illini moms and dads, brothers and sisters, a charter plane-load and several tour buses.

Many an appetite was whetted, too, at last year's Liberty Bowl in Memphis. Victory there no doubt caused many a travel-hardened fan to pledge, "See you next year ... in Pasadena."

The most loyal of fans followed through blindly — and shrewdly, as it turned out — making reservations well in advance. Many tours sold out the week after the Michigan game on Oct. 29, even though it took the Illini two more weeks to sew up the invitation.

Those who didn't make early reservations may be out of luck. Tours whose packages include game tickets are nearly filled. And the U of I Alumni Association has filled its spaces with 4,500 alumni, faculty, staff and students.

Limited airline space is still available, but tour promoters won't guarantee tickets. Los Angeles ticket brokers (operating legally in California) are quoting Rose Bowl prices of $90 (end zone) and $185 (sideline) for a ticket whose face value is $30.50.

By the time all seats are booked, the lodging reserved and the rent-a-cars rented, as many as 30,000 Fighting Illini loyalists and fellow travelers will find themselves in the Los Angeles-Pasadena area for a post-Christmas vacation, bowl game and all-around blizzard.

An additional 5,000 "unofficial" fans will have made their way to the Pacific Coast by game time. By bus, train, car or plane, they will filter west through intermediate stops like Phoenix, Denver, San Francisco and Las Vegas.

By the time it's over, Fighting Illini followers will leave behind some $25 million. Pleased Southern California business officials say the Rose Bowl, because of extended stays, has a "drop" that outstrips the Super Bowl and virtuous on the globe.

And the euphemistic "granddaddy of bowl games" represents a reverse homecoming of sorts, for the estimated 14,000 U of I grads living in California. "We've got 7,000 alumni in the Los Angeles area alone," says Louis Llay, director of the U of I Alumni Association.

"If the University of Illinois had 50,000 tickets, we could sell them, maybe even 60,000 or 70,000," says a frustrated Llay, who's unhappy about ticket distribution by the Tournament of Roses Committee.

Says U of I Vice Chancellor Donald Wendel about Chamign, "This town is so excited about this that I wish we could accommodate everybody. Unfortunately, I'm afraid we can't do that."

Ticket distribution is based on the bowl game contract between the Big 10 and Pac 10 athletic conferences, Wendel explains. Each year, 20,000 tickets are allocated to the Big 10 representative, in this case Illinois.

Wendel, who chairs a special U of I Bowl Committee formed two years ago, explains that the nine other Big 10 universities get 200 tickets each. Another 200-ticket package goes to the Big 10 office in Schaumburg.

Geography dictates a larger share to the Pac 10 participant, and UCLA will have 50,000 tickets at its disposal.

The U of I's seats are located in the northwest section of the huge Pasadena stadium, the block traditionally set aside for visitors from Big 10 schools. About 2,000 will be used by what the university calls its "official party," which is expected to include Illinois Gov. James Thompson.

TOURNEY RECEIPTS. Paul Sodko, Tri-City YMCA president accepts a check from Al Hudzik, YMCA committeeman and member of the YMCA Golf Classic organizing committee. Hudzik presented the check of $2,467.63, the amount raised from the fund raiser. The tournament was held Oct. 1.

The remaining 18,000 tickets have been divided into four lots of 4,500 each: one batch for students, one for faculty and staff, one for Alumni Association tour participants and one for donors to the Athletic Association.

"There will be no sale to the general public," Wendel says, "and you must be a season ticket-holder to get a (Rose Bowl) ticket."

Other than students, faculty and staff, in fact, it takes a contribution of $1,000 or more to qualify for a seat.

"Our alumni on the West Coast are absolutely incensed (about the shortage of game tickets)," says Llay. "We got a call from Mexico City, and eight alumni wanted 30 tickets to bring their families up."

Those who get tickets — including more than 4,500 U of I students to be selected through a ticket lottery — will spend an extra-long New Year's weekend in the Los Angeles area. The bowl game and Rose Parade aside, they'll have plenty of time to look for movie stars, stroll on the beaches, eat Fatburgers and watch floats being made.

Southern California's weather during the Rose Bowl fortnight is called "chancy" by anyone local except the chambers of commerce. But "if it" means different things to different people.

Certainly, coats and light jackets are necessary for cool evenings, even for the hardiest souls from "back East."

But the tourists with the Big Ten universities aren't hard to spot during bowl time. They're often the ones in shorts, golf shirts and long-sleeved T-shirts, airing out their tanning-park sins and playing mad-dog Frisbee on the beach.

Chief Illiniwek and the Marching Illini will be on hand for certain events, of course. There will be an "Official Illini Tour Desk" in the lobbies of luxury hotels, where those on the alumni association's tours will be billeted.

Tour participants, paying $800 to $2,000 for airfare-lodging-ticket packages, have a solid schedule for their three to six days in Los Angeles: luncheons, studio tours, beach time and Illini Day at ever-popular Disneyland.

"A lot of people wanted to go, but they wanted to go at rock-bottom prices," says Ken Davis, president of Circle Travel and Tours. "I would say $800 to $900 would be on the low side for airfare and a land package," he says. "Plus some food and some of the kinds of things that can really make it grow."

One group will find its way into Los Angeles via Las Vegas, six hours to the east. Another will fly into San Diego, then travel by bus to quarters at the posh Balboa Bay Yacht Club, oceanside at Newport Beach.

Cartan Tours, based in Rolling Meadows, will escort many of its guests to a special Rose Bowl luncheon, attended by the Illinois football captains and the queens of the Tournament of Roses pageant. Dinner dances on New Year's Eve are standard.

The day-later scheduling of the Rose Bowl allows a "free day" in between New Year's Eve parties and a necessarily early departure to northwest suburban Pasadena.

To see grand marshal Danny Kaye and the Rose Parade — "volunteerism" is the theme for the flower-covered floats — a 4:30 a.m. breakfast is scheduled prior to departure by bus. Police escorts are routinely provided, tour operators say.

While downstate travel agencies have offered an assortment of packages, most were arranged through a large Chicago or Los Angeles tour company.

"We had a block of 40 airline seats, and they were gone the Monday after the decisive (Michigan) game," says Randy Long, manager of Franklin Travel in Springfield.

A second Franklin tour, offering a three-night stay rather than five nights, was sold out by mid-afternoon the next day, he says.

Sharon Kuhl, planning manager at Carian, says her firm makes Rose Bowl arrangements year-round, ultimately offering its block of tickets and "land packages" to travel agents in the locale of the team chosen to participate.

News notes

U.S. Bankruptcy Judge Robert E. Brauer last week directed that $2 million in cash and securities be repaid to customers of the defunct Six & Co. stock brokerage. Those whose accounts exceeded $100,000 in cash or $500,000 in securities will be repaid in full but seven former officers will get only 65 percent of what they had in their accounts.

A Madison County grand jury next week will study the procedures being used in setting township assessment multipliers.

The 1983 convention of the Madison County Republican central committee is set for 7:30 tonight at the Edwardsville High School cafeteria. Lt. Gov. George Ryan and State's Attorney Don Weber will speak and there will be straw polls on county and state races.

Madison County transit officials are considering building a bus garage in the county, perhaps along Highway Three or 111.

State Comptroller Roland Burris said he will not withdraw from the crowded Democratic primary for the U.S. Senate. Major candidates also include State Sen. Pres. Philip Rock, Cong. Rep. Paul Simon and Alex Seith, a past nominee.

U.S. jobless dropped to 8.4 percent in November, the lowest in two years, from 8.8 in October.

The Illinois Supreme Court said Thursday the department of Corrections may ship prisoners out of the state to relieve prison overcrowding but still must avoid doing so primarily to punish a prisoner with exile.

GC police obtain charges against two in murder case

Ronald "The Rat" Bell and William "Butch" Moore were named Thursday afternoon by Granite City police as the men they believe killed Jesse James Mankey, 30, St. Louis, on Dec. 16, 1982.

The two suspects are thought to be affiliated with the El Forasteros motorcycle gang, also known as The Enforcers.

Moore is at large, possibly in the Midwest. Bell is in custody at Jefferson City, Mo., after a burglary conviction.

Warrants were issued against the pair on the basis of criminal information authorized by Madison County State's Attorney Don W. Weber.

Each of the two suspects was named in four charges—two murder and two concealment of a homicidal death. All eight charges relate to various aspects of the one homicide.

It is contended that the slaying occurred in transit from Missouri to Illinois, giving Granite City authorities jurisdiction to investigate and prosecute the case.

The victim was alive when he and others left the Trout's Landing tavern in St. Louis, detectives learned.

He was found at 1:37 a.m. Dec. 16 lying in the parking lot of the Lone Acres Tavern at 20th Street and Edwardsville Road but had not been in that establishment. He had a fatal gunshot wound to the back of the head, apparently inflicted a short time before he was found.

A .45-caliber automatic handgun is thought to have been the murder weapon.

Mr. Mankey was only partly clothed.

despite the below-freezing temperature. He was found in blue jeans, long insulated underwear, shoes and socks. He had no identification.

A drawing of his facial features was released to newspapers and television stations. His wife, Jo Ann Mankey, saw it on TV. She then came here and identified him Saturday night, Dec. 18.

Along with his wife, survivors included their son and Mr. Mankey's mother, a resident of St. Louis. The funeral was at Newport, Ark.

The native of Harrisburg, Ark., had lived in St. Louis for seven years and was a carpenter for the parks division of the St. Louis city government.

Mr. Mankey was found lying face down near a dumpster in the parking lot of the local tavern by the owner.

who was walking to the container to deposit trash.

No weapon could be found in the vicinity. A nearby security guard saw nothing suspicious that night, and tavern patrons heard nothing unusual.

Details of the exhaustive investigation have not been disclosed. The Granite City police department participated in the probe along with detectives of the Third District of the St. Louis police department.

Granite City police detectives Tony Eck and Jerry Wilson said Moore and Bell have lived in the St. Louis area at various times.

Although no eyewitnesses to the shooting have been found, considerable evidence has been accumulated for introduction at the upcoming trial.

Supreme Court denies Girvies Davis appeal

The U. S. Supreme Court has refused to hear the appeal of Girvies Davis on his conviction for the 1978 murder of Charles Biebel of rural Belleville.

The decision, announced last week, may mean that an execution date may be set for Davis.

The decision also caused cancellation of a hearing that was scheduled for last Monday in Madison County to resentence Davis for the 1979 murder of Esther Sepmeyer of rural Maryville. Davis, 25, of East St. Louis, had been sentenced to death for the murders of both Biebel and Mrs. Sepmeyer.

The sentence in the Sepmeyer case was overturned in June by the Illinois Supreme Court, which ruled that a Madison County jury should not have been told Davis had been given a death sentence for a previous murder conviction.

Because Davis said he didn't want to appeal his death sentence, Madison County State's Attorney Don Weber requested a competency hearing in circuit court before Davis was resentenced.

FINED, PUT ON PROBATION FOR CONTACT WITH MINOR
Eddie Spears, 24, Cottage Hills, has been fined $500 plus $50 special costs and has been placed on a year of probation by Circuit Judge P.J. O'Neill.

Spears was initially charged June 2 with taking indecent liberties with a child in the Madison area, and this later was amended to contributing to the sexual delinquency of a minor. He pleaded guilty Oct. 24.

TURKEY TROT WINNERS. Phil Popmarkoff (center) receives a turkey from Rosanna Herren, director of student life at GCC. Popmarkoff won the turkey trot pace race at the college Wednesday, when he completed the 10-lap course in the fastest time (3:45). Winning intramural t-shirts, were Grant Thornsburg (left), with the second fastest time (3:50) and Steve Herr (right) with the most accurate estimate of his time. He came within 16 seconds of his guess. (Press-Record Photo)

Arrest man for burglary of home

Charles F. Thompson, 25, of 1908 Rhodes St. was charged by Granite City police Thursday with a residential burglary.

He was found inside a home at 2710 Burton Ave. between 2:45 and 3 p.m. Nov. 30, officers alleged. The owner, Kit Wood, was away at the time.

Officers were told that a man was seen crawling through a window into the residence. When they drove up, he came onto the front porch and said, "Here I am, Officer."

Although surrendering quickly, the suspect insisted that he had permission to be at the Wood dwelling. At one point, he dialed a telephone, saying he would let police talk to the individual who had granted permission.

However, a policeman was unable to hear any response when the officer tried to hold a conversation with the person who had been called. Thompson was taken to the police station for questioning, and filing of the charge followed.

412 thefts, burglaries in GC cleared

The staggering number of 412 Granite City thefts and burglaries has been solved through interviews with Mark A. Orman, 36, East Alton, local police said Friday.

In some of the cases, descriptions of items missing here have been matched with salvaged loot and the property has been returned to the owners. No more remains at this time.

The thefts occurred between January and October 1982 and between January 1983 and Oct. 27.

Orman linked himself to break-ins and thefts in the Wood River and East Alton area, Granite City, Collinsville and Belleville.

He has just been sentenced to six years in prison for burglaries and felony theft investigated by Wood River police, authorities said. He also served in prison previously.

Typical local cases involved home and garage looting, yard thefts and auto burglaries.

Many of the articles taken were tools, bicycles, varied yard furniture and lawn equipment, Granite City Police Detective Jerry Wilson said. Much of the loot could not be recovered because, Orman said, it usually would be disposed of immediately—through a "fence" for resale of the stolen goods.

Some phases of the investigation are continuing.

PROBATION, JAIL TERM FOR BURGLARY, BATTERY

Paul Henry or Paul H. Dale, 30, of 669 Barkley St., Mitchell, has been placed on two years of probation, with the last 90 days to be spent in jail. He was charged Aug. 29 with a Madison area burglary and then was booked Oct. 6 for aggravated battery.

He pleaded guilty to both charges Oct. 25 before Circuit Judge P.J. O'Neill. In September 1980, Paul Dale, 27, Chouteau Island, was charged with two counts of delivery of cannabis.

30-DAY COUNTY JAIL TERM

Barry Lee Hutchinson, 20, of 3007 Kirkpatrick Homes was sentenced to a 30-day term and was transferred last week to the Madison County jail. Arrested at 5:35 a.m. that day in the 4600 block of Kirkpatrick, he was booked on two probation allegations and a 1981 theft warrant.

News Notes

Gov. James Thompson has decided to close the Galesburg and Mendenhall mental health institutions by the end of 1985, with about half of the 1,330 patients referred to community care and the others transferred to Peoria, Galesburg, Rock Island or Elgin. A $40 million, 750-bed state prison is to be built at Galesburg.

School aid cuts may be needed in 1984 unless the state's temporary income tax increase is extended, Gov. Thompson said. House Majority Leader Jim McPike said in Granite City this fall that legislators do not plan to extend it.

The Illinois Supreme Court has partly lifted its ban on courtroom cameras. A 4-3 vote allowed an experimental period, 1984, in which news reporters can film and tape proceedings of the Supreme Court and Appellate Courts. Trial courts will remain closed to such coverage.

The Madison St. Clair counties area had 10.4 percent unemployment in October, down from 11.3 percent in September, the Illinois Bureau of Employment Security said. Rock Island and Moline had 14.3 percent jobless, down from 14.5.

Medicare funding in the U.S. is falling 30 to 50 percent short of the costs.

COMPANY PRESIDENT TO DISCUSS MANAGEMENT

Ron Fraher, president of Delta Computer Systems Distributors Inc., will discuss Japanese methods in American management Thursday, Dec. 8, at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Fraher will give his presentation at 4:30 p.m. in Room 0101 of Building 11.

Fraher, and the Japanese method, places emphasis on teamwork rather than a strict boss-employee division, according to a Jan. 23 article in the St. Louis-Post Dispatch.

Fraher became president of Delta Distributing in 1982. The company is one of 12 American distributors for Epson Computer printers and Peripherals, a division of Seiko.

The presentation is sponsored by the SIUE chapter of the American Society of Personnel Administration (ASPA). For more information, interested persons may call the SIUE business management office at 1-692-2750 and ask for the ASPA office.

INJURED AS TRUCK, AUTO CRASH ON VENICE BRIDGE

James W. Laird Sr., 55, of 2960 Grand Ave. was injured at 5 p.m. Friday when his eastbound pickup truck was hit by a westbound auto and then continued on, striking the McKinley Bridge west end's north railing.

The other motorist, Leroy G. Carter, 70, of 810 Franklin St., Madison, said he was passing a stalled westbound truck on the left. He was charged by Venice police with driving with an expired license.

ACTIVE VOLUNTEER, Sandra Hahne, left, receives a certificate from Mark Friedrich, president of the Granite City Optimist Club, during a Youth Appreciation Dinner recently. Sandra Hahne, who is active in the Tri-Cities Association for Retarded Citizens, is scorekeeper for two bowling programs, helps with roller skating, dances and paperwork for various programs, has been a co-leader with the River Bluff Girl Scouts for three years and has assisted in neighborhood events and Venice school activities. Sandra is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Armond Hahne. (Press-Record Photo)

Building permits issued to GC Housing Authority

Building permits issued by Granite City include one to the Granite City Housing Authority for trash racks and clothing poles. The project's estimated cost is $26,697. The improvements will be in the 1800 block of Kirkpatrick Homes.

Other permits were issued to Prairie Farms Dairy, 19th and Benton Streets, for razing a 20 by 20-foot section of their building at a cost of $1,500; Joe Drona, 3129 Ash Ave., replacing a roof for $1,550; Alford Stroke, 2716 Iowa St. roof and soffit, $2,460; and C.E. Basden, 2018 Dewey, $6,900 of new construction work.

Permits were also given to Patricia Noeth, 2399 Cleveland Blvd., roof work, $1,000; Wilson's Aluminum, replacing the roof, soffit and fascia, $2,500; Cecil Phelps, 2791 Nameoki Drive, reroofing, $500, and Jack Tripp, 2914 State St., $20,000 worth of construction repairs to his home due to fire damage.

TWO HURT AS TRUCK HITS AUTO AND ANOTHER TRUCK

Harold E. Fleener, 70, and Mildred Fleener, 62, both of Cuba, Mo., suffered multiple injuries and were taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center at 10:20 a.m. Thursday. Her car, northbound on Edwardsville Road, had been halted at a red light when sideswiped on the right by the northbound truck of Richard G. Horn, 63, Waterloo.

ITEMS TAKEN FROM VAN PARKED IN DRIVEWAY

Doris J. Smith, 1716 Rhodes St., Madison, reported to Madison police Thursday that her van had been broken into while it was parked in her home's driveway.

Taken was an AM-FM weather-band portable radio valued at $70, a hydraulic jack worth $50, a car battery valued at $75, three books of McKinley Bridge tickets and an undetermined amount of change from the ashtray.

WOMAN HAS PURSE TAKEN FROM CAR AT BUS STOP

Laticia Pritchard, 1024 Calhoun St., Madison, called the police station Thursday to report that her purse had been stolen from her car while she was taking her mother to the bus stop. Taken was $80 cash, an unknown amount of food stamps, identification for her job, her driver's license and various credit cards.

Miss Pritchard reported Friday that she had recovered her purse, but her cash and food stamps were not recovered.

Tigers battle back to down Warrior grapplers

GCHS downs Orphans, Terriers

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — Granite City High School wrestling fans witnessed Friday evening what Warrior Coach Bill Schmitt has been saying all along: A two-school merger into one does not necessarily make a stronger wrestling team. The Warriors, certainly one of the wrestling powers of the area to be reckoned with, finished second

"This is definitely a big win for us," Stahlhut said. "To beat this team... is a real morale booster for our team."

For Stahlhut and his crew of Tiger wrestlers it was the second consecutive year that he's edged the Warriors for the championship of their season-opening quadrangular meet. Last year, like this year, both Edwardsville and Granite City South breezed past Carbondale and Centralia, but in the final pairing beat behind Edwardsville in their season-opening quadrangular meet at Granite City High School. The Warriors lost to the Tigers 30-22 in the championship pairing. Both Centralia and Carbondale's teams were winless against Granite City and Edwardsville and did not compete against each other.

"We've got some good kids out on this year," Schmitt said. "Our problem tonight was just what we've been saying all along. We've got three or four fine wrestlers all competing for one weight. We only can go with one wrestler at one weight at a time," Schmitt said.

Schmitt said the Warriors are facing one basic problem — an over abundance of wrestlers in the middle weight categories and not enough in the heavier divisions. Consequently, against stiff competition the Warriors are winning in the middle divisions, but due to lack of depth at 167 and 185 pounds and heavy-weight, the Warriors are finding victories harder to come by.

That was the case Friday night in the championship pairing against Edwardsville. With the three heavier divisions remaining, Granite City was leading Edwardsville by seven points, 22-15.

But losses in those three final matches lifted the Tigers past the Warriors for the victory.

In fairness to the three Warrior wrestlers in those weight classes — Steve Knogl, Lester White and Bill Perigo — the Warriors' heaviest three categories are probably their strongest. Just as Granite City's forte is its middle weight divisions, Edwardsville's strength is in its heavier divisions.

"In every match we win we come from behind," said Warren "Babe" Stahlhut, Edwardsville's wrestling coach. "Our upper weight classes are our strong suit. We did the same thing last week against Roxana. They won the first six (weight divisions) and we won the last six. We just managed a couple of wins in those last five matches to win on points."

The Tigers' victory improves their record to 5-0 on the season. The Warriors ended competition Friday 2-1, but picked up three more victories Saturday in Decatur (see related story) to improve their record to 5-1.

when the two teams, the Tigers emerged victorious. Against Carbondale, Granite City's first opponent Friday, the Warriors picked up a decisive 50-11 victory. Granite City won nine matches, lost two and tied one.

But, the one-sided victory favoring the Warriors was just what Terrier Coach Dennis Kagan expected.

"This is kind of a rebuilding year for us," Kagan began. "To rebuild you've got to expose your kids to some fine wrestling. That's why we come up here each year. These kids can learn a lot in a short time wrestling against Granite City and Edwardsville. After all, our goal is to qualify some kids for the state tournament. If they can't compete here they won't go very far towards that goal," Kagan said.

Ragan, incidentally, is a 1973 graduate of Granite City High School and a former student of Coach Schmitt's. He represented the Warriors at 126 pounds.

Second round action pitted the Warriors against Centralia. Although not as decisive a victory as the Carbondale matchup, the Warriors still won easily, 46-17.

Interestingly, Centralia's coach, Dick Carpenter, gave the same reasons as Ragan for coming to the quadrangular tournament.

"We came here expecting to lose to Granite City, but we didn't know about Edwardsville this year. We were hoping to do a little better against them."

"Basically, we come here for the experience. I don't like to come over here and get trounced but we're hoping that the kids will get an idea what they need to work on if they're going to be winners," Carpenter said.

Edwardsville unmercifully blanketed the Orphans 49-0. Carbondale, third, lost to the Tigers 30-22.

For the Warriors, the meet was a success. Besides opening the season with a couple of wins, the Warriors found promise in Jeff Cotter at 98 pounds, a Jeff Wakeford, a two-time winner, at 112 pounds, a two-time winner, Greg Niemeth, a 119-pound two-time winner Friday, Brent McKenney, a 126-pound senior state qualifier last year who won both matches he wrestled; Mike Novich, a 138 pounder who won both of his matches and Mark Dowdy, a 155 pounder and state qualifier last year, who won both of his matches quite decisively 24-3 and 18-4.

The Warriors are idle until Friday when they travel to Parkway North for a 7 p.m. non-conference dual meet.

Warriors sweep Decatur matchup

DECATUR — Coming off a second-place finish in their season-opening quadrangular meet Friday, the Granite City High School wrestling team improved its record to 3-1 this season with a clean sweep Saturday over Decatur-McArthur, Decatur-Stephen and Bloomington High Schools.

In their first match Saturday, held at Decatur-McArthur, the Warriors swept right by Decatur-Stephen 40-28. After that, things only got easier for the Warriors as they defeated Decatur-McArthur 48-16 in their second pairing and annihilated Bloomington 50-3 in their third match.

"We were rather disappointed after Friday's loss to Edwardsville, but Saturday's victories took some of that pain away," Warrior Coach Bill Schmitt said. "Overall, it wasn't really a bad weekend."

Schmitt said he has never recalled such a one-sided victory for the Warriors in the year's his teams have been making the trip to Decatur for the weekend quadrangular pairing.

"That has to be the most one-sided victory we've ever had up there. We've never beaten them that badly before."

For Granite City, the weekend's activities gave 21 of its wrestlers actual mat time.

In Saturday's competition, Greg Nemeth (119 pounds) and Steve Knogl (167 pounds) were three-time winners. Two-time winners include Jeff Cotter, 98 pounds; Brent McKenney 126 pounds; Tom Sparks, 132 pounds; Mark Dowdy, 155 pounds and Mike Novich, 138 pounds.

Single match winners Varadian, Eads, Fenoglio and McElroy competed in only one match Saturday.

Kaskaskia edges Stars in GCC home opener

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — When Larry Graham signed on as the Granite City Center Stars' basketball coach earlier this year, he knew this first season was going to have more lows than highs.

Last Thursday night, the Stars' home opener, was one of those low points as GCC lost to Kaskaskia 76-73. But in the midst of that low, Graham saw a high and reason for optimism.

"I was really encouraged with the way we played in the first half. We played well and we shot well. We got on a roll and then we went through a 10-minute freeze. If we hadn't stalled, we could've won tonight," Graham said.

That 10-minute freeze began with the start of the second half. After a 30-all halftime score, the Stars fell behind — 15 points at one point — and never fully recovered.

"Kaskaskia's got a good team," Graham said afterwards assessing the opposition. "They haven't always been good, but they're on their way to having a decent basketball program."

The victory improves Kaskaskia's record to 6-1 on the season, while the Stars fell to 3-3. Saturday, however, the Stars rebounded after their loss to the Blue Devils to defeat Washington University's junior varsity (see related story) to improve their record to 4-3.

As big a reason as anything for the Stars' letdown against Kaskaskia was its poor shooting at the free throw line. The Stars made seven of 16 attempts for 43 percent.

The Blue Devils made 24 of 45 for 53 percent, a 10 percent efficiency difference. Graham believes could have been the deciding factor in the ball game.

"If we could have just made a few more free throws we could have been a little closer or even won the game," Graham said.

Over the week the Stars' lackluster performance at the stripe, Granite City played well, like a developing team with promise.

Excluding the waning seconds of the first half when Kaskaskia managed to tie and then lead by two, the Stars led and even controlled the opening half.

After giving up the first basket of the game — a layup by Kaskaskia point guard Todd Schwankhaus — the Stars' Marc Parker tied the game and the Stars began a roll that didn't cease until just prior to halftime.

Headly play by the Stars' starting five — Parker, Rich Rody, Cleveland Young, Don Goodwin and Carvell Claggett — kept Kaskaskia off balance for most of the first half.

The Stars' quick tempoed gameplan worked well and midway through the first half, at the 10-33 mark, Young scored a jumper giving the Stars a six-point lead, their biggest of the game.

Kaskaskia whittled away at that lead in the latter part of the first half. With just 12 seconds remaining in the half, the Blue Devils' Charlie Phillips put Kaskaskia ahead 30-28 with a looping 15 footer.

At that point, it appeared the half would end that way, but with one second remaining on the clock, Granite City's Pat Linhart sank a jumper after the buzzer to tie the game at 30.

When the second half resumed, however, the Stars were a different team. Cold and unable to muster an offense, Kaskaskia took control of the game. The result was ineffectual Blue Devils lead which eventually carried them to victory.

The Blue Devils' march to victory, however, did not go uncontested. Despite their slow start in the second half, the Stars managed to throw a scare into Kaskaskia.

After leading by as much as 15 points midway through the second half, Kaskaskia's lead gradually slipped away.

With 2:14 remaining in the game, Granite City closed to within seven. An antagonizing full-court press piloted by Granite City's Rody forced Kaskaskia to turn over the ball.

With 1:43 remaining, Rody's bucket moved the Stars to within three, 64-67. But that was as close as GCC got.

Kaskaskia would score and Granite City would answer with two points. Time favored Kaskaskia until the end.

Frank Evans, Kaskaskia's coach, apparently concerned with the closeness of the game, said little afterwards. "I'm glad to get out of here with a win. That's all I have to say," the delighted Evans said.

Four Stars scored in double figures. Parker was GCC's leading scorer with 13, followed by Rody, Stanley and Adams who each had 12 points. Kaskaskia's Eddie Powell was the game's leading scorer with 13 points. And Don Goodwin and Pat Linhart both scored 10 points in the winning effort for the Stars.

Granite City Center, now 4-3 for the season, got a 28-point performance out of guard Marc Parker, a Collinsville High School graduate. Parker was 13 of 19 from the field and made both of his free throws.

Rich Rody scored 15 more points for the Stars, Carvell Claggett added

13 points, and Don Goodwin and Pat Linhart both scored 10 points in the winning effort for the Stars.

"We shot well, and the team's starting to pull together," GCC Coach Larry Graham said. "Rody's is really coming along for us, and it helps to have Kerwin Stanley back with us."

The Stars travel to the Boys Club of St. Louis for a 7:30 game tonight.

GCC (7-3): Parker 7-4-18, Stanley 5-2-12, Adams 6-0-12, Rody 6-0-12, Young 4-0-8, Linhart 1-0-2, Goodwin 1-0-2, Petty 1-2-4, Claggett 4-0-18.

KAS (7-3): Powell 7-4-18, Conrad 3-2-8, Harre 5-2-12, Schwankhaus 5-3-13, Cooper 3-7-13, Phillips 1-0-3, Armstrong 2-6-12-10.

Greyhounds outlast Red Devils; win 69-63

By ROGER KRAMER
of the Press-Record

VENICE — It's always nice to have one 20-point scorer to carry you through a basketball game, but the Lebanon Greyhounds proved it's even better to have two 20-point scorers Friday in Venice.

Even though Venice's Eddie Salmond scored 28 points, Lebanon's Bass brothers, Clifford and Lawrence, scored 26 and 22 points respectively. That's why Lebanon was able to pull out a 69-63 non-conference win over the Red Devils.

"You need more than one player to score if you're going to win. Eddie got us back into the game, but you can't expect Eddie to keep on hitting like he did," Venice Coach Clinton Harris said.

When Salmond was hot, Venice literally dazed Lebanon. When Salmond got cold, none of his teammates picked up the slack. That meant the Bass brothers picked apart Venice's defense.

Salmond was cold for the entire first half, and Lebanon took a 35-27 halftime lead. Suddenly Salmond got hot, and the Red Devils came to life.

After missing his first three shots in the third quarter, Salmond was perfect on his other five shots. Salmond hit nothing but net on several 22-footers late in the third quarter and early in the fourth quarter.

Along with Salmond's sharp shooting, Venice's Larry McGhee added a pair of fast break lay-ups to push Venice in the lead.

Salmond also hit his first three shots in the fourth quarter, and with 5:16 left in the game, Venice had what seemed to be a comfortable 59-50 lead.

"Does Salmond ever miss?" asked Lebanon Coach Wayne Leehring said. "He hit just about everything we gave him. We were ahead by eight, but Venice's is so quick, they just whizzed past us. Before I knew it, we were down by nine."

Suddenly, Salmond froze, and no other Red Devils was able to pick up where Salmond left off. Once Venice picked up its nine-point lead, Salmond only made one of eight shots from the field.

Meanwhile, the Bass brothers asserted themselves again. Clifford Bass, the power forward, scored six points, and Lawrence Bass, the small forward, added an outside shot with 1:37 left in the game to give Lebanon a 62-61 lead.

On Venice's next trip down, Salmond shot from closer range, but he was fouled with 41 second left in the game. Salmond missed both free throws, and Lebanon had the game in hand.

"He was cold early in the game, but Eddie came on and had an outstanding game. You can't expect one guy to keep on pulling you through the entire game," Harris said. "I don't like to see one person get a lot of points. I want everyone on the team to score points."

Incidentally, Salmond's basket at 4:07 and McGhee's basket with 12 second to go were Venice's only baskets in the final six minutes of the game.

Lebanon's Mike Ogden was fouled by McGhee with 34 second left. Ogden made the first free throw but missed the second. However, Lawrence Bass was right there to put the rebound in to give Lebanon a 65-61 lead.

Venice had three close-range shots on its next drive, but none of them went in the hoop. Jim Edison put in two more free throws for the Greyhounds to add to the lead. Despite McGhee's basket, Ogden added two more free throws with 10 seconds left to clinch the game.

"I really didn't think Venice could keep up the pace they did the third quarter," Leehring said. "I knew Salmond couldn't hit like that for the rest of the game. I just think we had more going for us than they did, and I thought we could catch them."

Meanwhile, Harris, who saw his team dip to 1-1 for the season, isn't concerned about the season yet.

"It's still early in the season, and I have a lot of confidence in these boys. I still think we're going to pull a few upsets this year. We just didn't make the shot when we had to," Harris said.

Venice is idle until Friday when the Red Devils host Madison in the annual rivalry between the two schools.

At Granite City Center SIUE women finish third in Classic

By AL BARNES
of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — Off to their best start in the history of women's basketball at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, the SIUE Cougars nevertheless had to be satisfied with a third-place finish in the Converse Cougar Cage Classic Friday and Saturday night at the Granite City Center gym. SIUE is now 3-1.

The Kangaroos of the University of Missouri, Kansas City won the championship, as predicted, by taking a thriller, 77-73, over the Screaming Eagles of Indiana State U. of Evansville.

In addition to SIUE's Barb Straker on the All-Star team it was Anya Williams, Oakland U.; Lori Smith, UMKC; Connie VanMeter, Indiana State; and Julie Nill, UMKC.

The Lady Cougar cagers face a tough schedule this week: Wednesday, they'll be at Macomb, Ill., to play Western Illinois U., in a 7 p.m. game; Friday night at 7:30, they'll return to the Granite City Center for very important (prestige-wise) meeting with the Lady Panthers of Eastern Illinois U., while Saturday night, it'll be Southeast Missouri State of Cape on the Edwardsville High gym in a 5:30 p.m. contest.

Against Pinckneyville Turnovers turn back Trojans; 57-49

PINCKNEYVILLE — Turnovers usually aren't a problem for the Madison Trojans, but things are turning out much differently in the early going this season.

Madison coughed up the ball 24 times and shot for a mere 42 percent in a 57-49 loss to Pinckneyville Friday night in Pinckneyville.

That fact Madison has committed 53 turnovers in its first two games has Trojan Coach Larry Graham extremely concerned.

"Yeah, we've got to play better. We have two tough games with McKinley (St. Louis) and Venice this week, and if we don't cut down on our turnovers, we're going to be hurting," Graham said.

Graham accounts many of the problems to the inexperience of his "Soldis."

"We're young and inexperienced, and with more games, we'll get a little bit better. Right now, we're a little overconfident about getting the ball down the court," Graham said.

Although Madison stayed close from the opening tipoff, the Trojans only scored eight points in the second and third quarters. Consider- ing Pinckneyville was only able to score 23 points in that same span, those were critical quarters in the game.

On top of Madison's poor field goal shooting, the Trojans were unable to produce much at the free throw line. Madison made only five free of 13 attempts at the line.

"Our free throw shooting was poor. We could have, maybe even should have, won the game. But we were behind the whole game and had to catch up," Graham said.

Joe Crowder led Madison's scoring attack with 12 points, and Michael Young and Reggie Banks both scored 10 points in the losing cause.

Madison, 1-1 for the season, plays McKinley, a St. Louis Public League team, Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. The Trojannies open its season against McKinley in the 6:15 p.m. preliminary game.

Even the second string knows what to do," stated Coach Cole.

Height will be another asset on the side of the Trojanettes, with most of the girls averaging 5-foot-8 to 5-foot-10 inches tall.

Cole seems to be pleased with her team, but she does foresee a problem with free throw shooting.

"Free throws are the only real weak point I can see, but even this has improved since last year."

Cole's Trojanettes will be put to their first test Tuesday night in their home opener against McKinley. The game will begin at 6:15 p.m.

Trojanettes Debut Tuesday Cole: It's now or never for cagers

By PAULA WISE
of the Press-Record

MADISON — Carol Cole, coach of the Madison girls basketball team, feels this is going to be the year for the Trojanettes.

"It's going to be this year or never," stated Cole, who is beginning her seventh season as coach.

"Things are just looking too good." One reason for Cole's optimism is the fact that all of her starting players from last years 18-5 team will be returning.

Returning letter winners include six seniors, Stephanie Walker, Regina Banks, Angelieta Dandridge, Angie Shipp, Abigail Heard, and Robyn Harris. Junior Kim Stanley will also be returning.

"Right now all of the girls are challenging for positions. By the middle of the season all seven girls will be seeing a lot of action," said Coach Cole.

Darla Taylor, Angelieta Reilly, and Kathy Barguil will also be seeing varsity action.

Cole felt her team's biggest asset would be its depth.

"We have a very solid team. All the girls are working well together."

In Quincy Saturday Turnovers doom GCHS cagers again

QUINCY — If Granite City High School basketball Coach Don Deterding sees Quincy again this year it'll be much too soon.

Last weekend in their season debut, the Warriors lost three games in the Quincy Senior High Thanksgiving Basketball Tournament. Saturday night, the Warriors made another trip to Quincy, this time to take on Quincy Notre Dame. But the result was the same, a 64-49 loss to the Raiders.

Again, the major reason for the Warriors' loss was its turnovers. In all, Granite City committed 21 of the miscues.

"It wasn't a very pretty ball game," Deterding said afterwards.

"Evidently, we don't know how to protect the ball. The game was very frustrating, very disappointing."

Aided by fine offensive showings by Scott Cant, who sank eight of 11 field goals attempted, and Jeff Gray, who was seven of 14 attempts from the floor, the Warriors shot a respectable 48 percent. The offsetting factor, Deterding said, again was the turnovers.

"I suppose we're going to have to make some personnel changes — find the right combination of players who can work best together," the Warrior coach said.

"We've got to come up with a win somewhere. But first we've got to overcome these turnovers."

School officials share ideas on problem solving

"The experience gave us valuable insight into a number of issues facing our school district," said Granite City School Board President David Partney, after returning from state meetings. "It was an opportunity to share information and solutions with board members and administrators from around the state, and to consult authorities in many areas of education."

"Opportunities to share ideas on public education are increasingly important as issues become more complex and resources more limited," Partney said Friday.

"Individual school districts cannot afford to operate in a vacuum, 'reinventing the wheel' to solve problems that other districts already have solved. And the consequences of operating a district without solid information about the legal and legislative actions that affect us—such as bargaining and state aid—would be disastrous."

Panel discussions and workshops were held by board members, administrators and business officials. Gov. James R. Thompson told school board members, "The state is faced with the necessity of reducing spending. Budget cuts can be made only where a substantial amount of money is being spent, such as education. The real issue is how much we are willing to pay."

Referring to a prediction of a "no growth" budget for Illinois next year, Thompson said, "No growth is a check of a lot better than cutbacks. But no growth is scary when you're talking about something as crucial as education."

Those attending from Granite City were Pres. Partney and Board Secretary Thomas Miskiey. They brought back cassette tapes and pamphlets of various meetings and speeches to share with other board members.

4 yrs. for indecent liberties with child

Found guilty during a jury trial Sept. 21-23 at the Madison County Courthouse in Edwardsville, Randall W. Duckett, 30, of 4393 Highway 162 later was sentenced to four years in a state prison.

The sentence was for two counts of indecent liberties with a child, occurring in the unincorporated area of Madison County. The charges were filed April 18.

Circuit Judge P.J. O'Neill presided.

Rapist to serve 6 years in prison

Danny Dawson, 31, of 2421 Missouri Ave. has been sentenced this fall to six years in an Illinois prison for committing a rape in Granite City.

The offense occurred April 4, 1982, and the allegation was filed that April 20. A guilty plea was submitted Sept. 26, 1983.

The sentencing was by Associate Judge Edward Ferguson, who dismissed a second rape count on a motion by the state's attorney.

DUI ARREST AFTER CRASH
Kenneth D. Harper, 22, of 2142 State St. was arrested for driving while under the influence of alcohol last week in the 2200 block alley between State Street and Grand Avenue. The left front of his north-bound pickup truck had hit an Illinois Power Co. electric pole 70 feet south of 23rd Street.

AREA TV, STEREO THEFTS
A 13-inch television set was stolen last week from a patient's room at Colonial Haven Nursing Home while he was away from the room to eat dinner. In an unrelated case, a $150 portable radio-cassette stereo was stolen Monday from Gilbert Culver's apartment, 1401 Kirkpatrick Homes.

Crop scouting workshop

By RONALD E. CORNWELL
Extension Adviser

Enrollment now is open for a crop scouting workshop that will be held in February.

The objective of the workshop is to improve the grain producers skills in the areas of identifying and controlling insect, disease and weed problems in grain crops.

This is an in-depth workshop where you learn to identify insects, plant diseases and weed. You learn scouting procedures, economic decision making on control and control recommendations.

This series of three workshops will be from 1 to 5 p.m. each day at the Farm Bureau Auditorium in Edwardsville. The first session is Feb. 6 on entomology. The second session is Feb. 15 on plant diseases and third session is Feb. 20 on weeds.

There is a $12 enrollment fee. The fee covers a crop scouting manual full of color picture identification aids and a crop protection manual. Advanced enrollment is necessary. Send enrollment fee to the Extension office, Box 427, 900 Hillsboro, Edwardsville, IL 62025.

STORING GARDEN SEEDS

The question comes up each year on how long garden seed can be stored. Can leftover seed be saved until next year? This is an important question for you as a gardener because you don't want to waste your effort planting "dead" seed.

Chris Doll, University of Illinois area adviser, maintains the key to year is related to the storage conditions. It is important that seeds be stored in a cool dry location.

The storage life of vegetable seeds vary. They can be divided into three groups. First are the short-lived seeds that are usually not good after one or two years. These include sweet corn, parsley, parsnips, okra, onions and saffron.

MAINTAINING A FENCE

Owners having adjoining lands are required to maintain a just, as well as a distinct, proportion of the division fence. The law does not mention which portion or how much of the fence each owner must maintain. Owners ordinarily assume responsibility for a designated one-half of the fence. This is usually the half on the right, as owners stand on their own property and face the division line. This is simply a custom. It is not part of the law.

If a division fence is a problem, the two owners should sit down and agree on which half of the fence they will maintain. This is often determined by the way previous owners divided the maintenance of the fence.

For additional information on fence laws, a circular entitled "Illinois Fence Law" is available free on request from the Extension Office.

State is low man

SPRINGFIELD — Illinois receives less federal money in proportion to the tax dollars it sends to Washington than any other state, the state comptroller's office reports.

In federal fiscal year 1982, the most recent year for which figures are available, Illinois received 66 cents in federal spending for every dollar state residents sent to Washington — less than all other states and the District of Columbia.

The report also shows that federal spending, gauged against federal taxes paid by Illinois residents, began its steepest recent decline in federal fiscal year 1980. From 1975 to 1980 the figure had been increasing marginally.

On the average, in 1982, Midwestern states got back 82 cents for every dollar their citizens paid in federal taxes. In 1975, 76 cents were spent by the federal government in the Midwest for every dollar the region paid in federal taxes.

The report, which is based primarily on federal data, said that the wide differences in federal spending flowing into the various regions of the country narrowed in 1982 compared with 1975. Fewer funds flowed into the south central and mountain states and more were spent in northern areas, particularly in New England.

The amount received by state adjacent to Illinois was 77 cents for Indiana, 78 cents for Wisconsin, 71 cents for Iowa, $1.39 for Missouri and $1.09 for Kentucky.

Among other industrial midwestern states, Michigan received 76 cents; Ohio, 85 cents; and Minnesota, 80 cents. Among other large states, New York received 81 cents; Pennsylvania, 94; Florida, $1.18; and California, $1.08.

The large difference between what Illinois sends to Washington and what it gets back — about $35 billion vs. about $23 billion — is the result of state residents' relatively high incomes and the relatively small amount of defense spending here.

"The sizable Illinois outflow means that the federal budget tends to dampen the Illinois economy," said Comptroller Roland Burris' report. "In contrast, the federal budget stimulates the economies of the District of Columbia and the states that receive far more in spending than their tax payments."

In the same report, the comptroller's office concluded that the Illinois economy is improving, with a survey of purchasing agents showing they believe production, employment, the amount of new product orders, order backlogs and inventories all are increasing.

State government itself showed a general funds balance in September at $217 million, the first time in two years it has been higher than $200 million. At the same time, however, that balance has been augmented by extensive borrowing from the private market and an increase in the income tax rate.

The study of federal spending in Illinois showed the state received $1,950 per capita, which is about 75 percent of the national average. North Carolina, at $1,936; Wisconsin at $1,872 and Indiana at $1,849, were the three states ranking below Illinois on a per capita spending basis.

There were wide variations in the type in federal spending in each state. While Illinois' share per capita of defense spending was only about 25 percent of the average per capita share, its welfare receipts per capita were nearly 10 percent higher than average.

Included as welfare spending was aid to dependent children, Medicaid, social service reimbursements, food stamps, supplemental security income and federal unemployment insurance benefits.

Illinois' share of federal grants per capita for major public works projects, highways and wastewater treatment facilities was about 6 percent below the average.

Although Burris has used the state's low level of federal receipts in his campaign to become the Democratic Party's nominee for the U.S. Senate, a spokesman for the comptroller said the report was planned long ago. It is not part of his campaign effort, the spokesman said.

STEREO THEFT, BURGLARY

A burglar took a $350 stereo unit from the home of Mrs. Karen Lindsey, 2461 Adams St., last week. In an unrelated case, someone stole three radio-cassette car stereos worth a total of $600 and a $99 cruise control device from the Central Hardware store's auto center last week.

EMT's plan dinner for seniors

The Granite City Emergency Medical Technicians (EMTs) will host their second annual Christmas party Thursday for Granite City seniors.

The dinner-dance is being sponsored by the ambulance staff's Relief and Welfare Fund. The event will take place at the Granite City Township Building, 2060 Delmar Ave.

Dinner will be served at 6 p.m. Dance music will be performed from 7 to 10 p.m. by the "Aleycats." The Granite City High School Swing Choir will entertain at 8 p.m. under the direction of Gail Mueller. A visitor from the North Pole also is expected.

"Last year, the event was very successful with 350 people in attendance," Greg Nighobossian, party chairman, stated. "We realize there are not many ways of reaching people of Granite City, especially the senior citizen, so the decision was made to continue this tradition as long as we are able."

Any Granite City resident, 55 and older, is welcome to attend. There is no charge and advance reservations are not required.

This event is one of several sponsored by the Granite City EMT Relief and Welfare Fund. During the Christmas season, the ambulance staff will arrange for carolers to visit St. Elizabeth Medical Center, and, in cooperation with the fire department, will give food baskets to needy area families.

SIUE teacher writes book

By PETER L. SIMPSON

"Peace is desirable, but so is justice," says Ronald J. Glossop, professor of philosophical studies at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, in his new book, "Confronting War: An Examination of Humanity's Most Pressing Problem."

Expanding on his point, Glossop goes on to state: "Ideally, governments should be vehicles of both peace and justice, but experience shows that they are often merely instruments by which the privileged extend their power. This analysis suggests that the only way to eliminate resorting to violence as a legitimate means of securing justice is to establish governments which are impartial and which allow for peaceful change."

FOR GLOSSOP, the solution to war lies in politics, which he defines as "nonviolent conflict between organized groups seeking decision-making power." His definition for war is essentially the same except that the first word is "violent" instead of "nonviolent."

He does not consider peace to be inert or passive, but rather an achievement which comes when groups with diverse interests are able to work out compromises and decision-making procedures which protect the concerns of all. He notes that "it is not easy to establish just governments even for national societies. The ultimate challenge of the future... is to establish a governance system on a global basis that will provide a just peace for the whole world."

In a systematic and comprehensive analysis of what he presents as "the most urgent problem facing humankind today," THE SIUE philosopher gives clearly articulated breakdowns of the meanings and relationships of the concepts of war, peace, and justice. He also provides a sketch of the history of warfare and a summary of the main trends which are revealed in such a review.

AT THE HEART of his multidisciplinary, practical, and finally optimistic approach is a five-chapter section on the contemporary situation, which examines the ideological, economic, military, institutional, and legal aspects of the problem. He draws from the ideas of political scientists, philosophers, historians, psychologists, anthropologists, sociologists, economists and peace researchers as he moves to a wide variety of proposals dealing with the elimination of war from the world scene.

Far from being excessively complex or abstruse, the book is readable, penetrating, comprehensive and concise. His overriding concern is unturning stones rather than throwing them.

Glossop is not averse to upsetting generally accepted commonplaces. He explores the basic outlook behind the prevailing notions of "leftist" and "rightist," concluding that leftists emphasize equality, while rightists focus on the idea that some people deserve more than others. He then advances the challenging thesis that the democratic aspect of Western ideology, while allowing for the rightist economic ideology of capitalism, represents a leftist political view. On the other hand, he sees the system of party rule advocated and practiced by communists as displaying a rightist attitude toward social decision-making.

BOTH DEMOCRATIC capitalists and Marxist-Leninists, Glossop notes, tend to emphasize the leftist elements in their ideologies when seeking converts in the less developed "third world" countries. Rightist approaches may be palatable, even necessary, at home; but on the world scene, each side attacks the rightist aspect of the opponent's philosophy.

Although the volume grew out of Glossop's classroom experience in teaching courses dealing with war and peace and his direction of the Peace Studies program at SIUE, the book has value beyond its main intended use as a text for high school and college students. It should also be useful to citizens who desire a more adequate understanding of war and the ideas being put forth about how to save humankind from "this constant threat to its welfare."

In fact, public officials and experts in international affairs — the very "politicians" in which Glossop vests so much hope in this hopeful book — would also do well to reflect on the ideas advanced. It will stimulate them to address urgent issues in fresh ways. With its comprehensive references to peace organizations and other places where additional information can be acquired, it offers practical avenues for action for any person who cares about the future of the world.

THE BOOK is published by McFarland & Company, Inc., of Jefferson, N.C., and is priced at $19.95.

Yule shoppers are key to fiscal hopes

By Ken Watson

SPRINGFIELD — State budget experts are going to the Christmas season with all the nervous anticipation of a 5-year-old kid. So are Illinois legislators.

For there is the hope that if Yule shoppers ring the cash registers like Santa's sleigh bells, that hovering cloud of another state financial crisis may be lifted. If so, lawmakers would be free of that fearful decision of voting for taxes in an election year. If not re-elected, last summer's temporary income tax surtax from 2.5 percent to 3 percent for individuals and from 4 percent to 4.8 percent for corporations will die.

Some early relief is due for income tax payers in January. Last July thousands of Illinoisans received a jolt when employers began taxing a bigger hunk than expected out of weekly paychecks. Few had realized that the surtax was retroactive to last January. Thus the flood of angry telephone calls to those unfortunate souls who issue paychecks.

Tax relief, however, will not be a one way street with the start of the new year. The 1-cent increase in the state sales tax goes into effect then, but unlike the income tax boost it will go unnoticed by most.

Worrying the budget experts and Gov. James Thompson is how the Illinois economic weather will hold up during the next 11 months. The new fiscal year starts July 1.

Thompson told an educators' convention in Chicago recently that if the income surtax is not extended, the state's financial situation "looks pretty scary."

Budget Director Robert Mandeville commented in Springfield that the administration's financial plan is "on target" but that it is too early yet to tell whether another fiscal crunch can be avoided.

The daily reports on the state's general revenue or operating fund by Comptroller Roland Burris support the Mandeville view. Recently, Burris reported an operating fund balance of $155,096,000. This was a $73,825,000 improvement over the same date (Nov. 23) a year ago. But the higher balance is not exactly one to write home about. Not too many months ago a $200 million balance was considered vital to the state's fiscal health, and during much of the Thompson administration, the balance has been around $300 million.

But it is the overall state of the economy that will determine whether the big tax battle of 1983 will be re-fought in the 1984 legislative session. The income tax and the sales tax provide almost half of the state's revenue and both are directly tied to business conditions.

Fat paychecks and increasing employment mean more consumer spending and a resultant increase in sales tax revenue. More people on the job means more people paying income tax thereby contributing to the state's tax coffers.

Right now the national economy is looking good. U.S. News & World Report interviewed six of the nation's top economists and their predictions for the coming year were such as to make a Reagan Republican weep with joy. The business recovery, they dictated, will surge through the next 12 months.

The only trouble with this rosy national outlook is that Illinois, due to its reliance on heavy industry, traditionally lags behind the rest of the country in business recoveries. Our high unemployment has only just begun to decrease slightly while a substantial drop in joblessness has been reported nationwide.

But for the present, budget watchers will be keeping a close eye on the trend of Christmas shopping. If Illinoisans join other Americans in what looks like a sizable buying spree compared with last year, the results should start showing up in sales tax collections at the start of the new calendar year.

A surge in consumer spending and a hopeful acceleration in the economy that will determine whether the big tax battle of 1983 will be re-fought in the 1984 legislative session. The income tax and the sales tax provide almost half of the state's revenue and both are directly tied to business conditions.

Thompson signs emergency funding bill

SPRINGFIELD — Gov. James R. Thompson has signed into law a bill providing more than $16.5 million in emergency funding for the state's prison system.

The money will be used for expansion of the state's prison system, including work camps and work release centers, and the hiring of additional correction staff members to handle more prisoners.

"The legislature acted quickly to give the state the authority to confront the serious problem of crowded prisons," Thompson said. "The money will be used with capital development funds as part of a $57 million plan to ease prison overcrowding in the short term and will allow us to address this situation in the right way."

Also included in the measure was $800,000 in general revenue funds that will be used by the Dangerous Drugs Commission to treat additional individuals under the Treatment Alternative to Street Crime programs, which allows judges to assign persons convicted of drug crimes to a rehabilitation program rather than sentencing them to a prison term.

MEAN THIEF BREAKS CAR HANDLES, LOOTS VEHICLE

A thief broke off an outer door handle to gain access to the parked auto of Robert Kraus, 2617½ Madison Ave., last week in a Granite City Steel parking lot on 16th Street and also broke off two inside door handles for no apparent reason and smashed the glove compartment.

The intruder stole 20 cassette tapes valued at a total of $140, a $10 cassette case and a $50 stereo radio. He also scratched paint on the trunk of the car.

2 HURT AS CAR HITS TREE

The two occupants were hurt at 3:50 a.m. Saturday when a northbound auto left the right side of Old Alton Road and hit a tree near Schaeffer Road. Taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center were the driver, Darrell C. Orender, 30, of 5357 Maryville Road and Terrell D. Smotherman, 23, of 2440 Kilmer Drive.

'Unfortunate,' says USDA official

By Charlyn Fargo

SPRINGFIELD — Remember the experiment by U.S. Secretary of Agriculture John Block to learn what a week of living on food stamps was all about?

Block, his wife Sue, daughter and a friend agreed to spend a week on a $58 food-stamp menu. Block accompanied his wife on a well-publicized shopping trip to purchase the food they would eat for the week.

Little has been heard about the incident since. But a top agriculture official said recently that the idea drew heavy criticism.

"It was an unfortunate experience," said Ray Lett, Block's top assistant in the USDA. "We found out it was one of those times politically when you play with dynamite. That's what happened to Jim Watt. We worry sometimes about Secretary Block. But he doesn't say derogatory (remarks) or tell jokes."

Many food stamp users considered the idea simply a publicity stunt, Lett said. The issue drew more than 1,000 letters, which he described as "extremely critical."

"I've never seen such hateful kinds of communication," he said. Most of the letters said Block didn't need to go on food stamps to prove a point, and that it was an unrealistic situation since the Blocks could cheat without anyone knowing. Others were upset because they were allotted less than $58 a week.

The administration's reasoning was to prove that a family of four could live on $58 worth of food stamps a week.

"Block was upset that people didn't appreciate and understand why he was doing it," Lett said. The timing of the food stamp trial also was poor, Lett said.

"At that time, there was a lot of controversy surrounding the hunger issue. People were very sensitive."

"It wasn't a major mistake. It was a bump in the road — maybe if Block had done it at a different time, it would have been better."

Bob Leard, administrator of the USDA's food and nutrition service, said Block didn't intend to be a food stamp "martyr", but wanted to get a feeling for being in the program.

Leard criticized the media for taking Block to task. "On the whole, a lot of newspapers didn't seem to cast aspersions about what he was trying to prove."

In 1983, the USDA projects it will spend nearly $12 billion on food stamps for 21.5 million recipients.

The average monthly benefit is $107 per household.

The total expenditure on all USDA food programs is $13.6 billion (besides food stamps, they include school lunches, the women, infants and children nutrition program, the child care food program, food distribution programs and others). That compares to $13.9 billion in 1982.

Lett said those who receive USDA assistance are the retired, the new unemployed and the "down and outers."

"All have gone through a lot of trauma recently," Lett said. "We're taking care of the poor, and we'll continue to do that."

HELD FOR FELONY THEFT

Operation Snowball hosts weekend

The seventh Region IV Operation Snowball Weekend which was held recently at Camp Sallateeka, Pickneyville, Ill., was sponsored locally by the Madison-Venice Rotary Club, the Friends of Madison High School and the Madison Junior Service Club. One hundred and eight students, youth staff and adult staff participated. In this drug abuse prevention weekend.

Operation Snowball is an educational and peer leadership training program. It is founded on the belief that every person has the capacity to make sound decisions regarding life based on accurate information and an understanding of one's self and motivations.

The purpose of Operation Snowball is to bring together professional resources and teenagers from the counties of Madison, St. Clair, Monroe, Washington, Clinton, Bond and Randolph, to explore issues and share information about alcohol and other drug misuses and related life problems.

Operation Snowball developed from the Illinois Teenage Assistance on Substance Abuse. These two prevention programs share the common purpose of providing young people with the education and skills to choose not to use alcohol and other drugs, and to be positive peer influences in their respective communities.

The next Operation Snowball Weekend will be conducted in April 1984. Any teenager who is interested in attending Operation Snowball, or any organization interested in sponsoring a teenager may call 345-5200 or write Region IV Operation Snowball, Piasa Health Care, 1315 Vandallia St., Collinsville, Ill., 62234.

750-bed prison to be built in Galesburg

Governor James R. Thompson has announced that the state will build a new 750-bed, medium-security prison at Galesburg.

The institution will be similar to prisons now under construction at Vienna and Danville and patterned after those now in service at Joliet and Centralia.

"With this announcement today, we have underway an aggressive program that will deal with the short-term problem of prison overcrowding in Illinois. We already have moved forward with new pre-arrest Lincoln, along with an accelerated program of guard training, work camps and pre-release centers. But we also are, and will be, looking at longer-term solutions to the problems we face in dealing with those in our society who need to be punished for their crimes," the governor said.

Galesburg was one of more than 20 communities which hosted public hearings last year seeking to become the site of a new medium-security prison. Manteno was not one of those communities.

"The decision to locate a prison in Galesburg was not tied to my decision to close the mental health center there, nor was it tied in any way to my decision to cease mental health operations at Manteno," Thompson said.

Galesburg, as one of those communities which sought a prison last year, has been in the running for such a state institution since the hearing, based on the solid support such an endeavor received from city officials, the Chamber of Commerce and other community voices.

"I am aware that there are those citizens in Galesburg who spoke out against placement of a penal institution there last year. However, I am confident that those individuals will find the Department of Corrections to be a positive, substantial addition to their community, just as similar facilities have become in Joliet, Lincoln, Vienna, Centralia and other Illinois cities."

The governor said the new Galesburg institution will house all categories of offenders, but basically only those whose classification by the Department of Corrections indicates they have already adjusted to prison supervision, or who are not likely to misbehave while incarcerated.

The new prison site will be on the west edge of the city directly south of U. S. 34. The site is 60.5 acres of land, 60.5 acres of which will be purchased by the city and given to the state and 20 acres that are owned by the state. The area is industrial zoned property.

Cost of construction will be about $38 million and will take two years, once the groundbreaking occurs. The facility will be surrounded by twin security fences, both fences topped with razor-sharp accordion wire. Gun towers will be placed at strategic positions along the perimeter fences.

The institution will employ 425 persons, most of whom will be hired from the Galesburg area, with a yearly payroll of about $10 million. About 30 of the 425 employees will be brought in from other institutions, principally at the management level, Thompson said.

Correctional officers who will supervise the 750 inmates will be trained at the Department's Training Academy in Springfield, a course of intensive instruction which last five weeks.

No-fault divorce law starts July 1

Governor James R. Thompson signed legislation Thursday that will allow spouses seeking a divorce to end their marriages without establishing fault after they have met certain legal conditions.

"This is progressive legislation that will prevent needless legal maneuvers that too often complicate divorce proceedings," the governor said. He signed the bill in a ceremony in his Chicago office.

Senate Bill 189 gives spouses two new options to receive a divorce. First, if both spouses have lived separately for at least two years, either one can file for divorce that does not place blame on either party. Second, if both spouses are seeking dissolution of the marriage and have lived separately for at least six months, they may jointly file for a "no-fault" divorce.

Thompson commended Chicago Sen. William Marovitz for his sponsorship of the bill and his efforts to gain General Assembly approval of the measure. Sponsoring the bill in the House were Representatives Alan Greiman of Skokie and Judy Bear-Tonkins of Riverside. It takes effect July 1, 1984.

Governor establishes annual Human Rights Day

Governor James R. Thompson opened the first in a series of Human Rights Conferences last week by calling for a state human rights agenda aimed at improving economic opportunities for minorities in the 1980s.

"The 1980s have evolved a different focus for civil rights. While the '60s and '70s focused on the development of judicial and legislative remedies, the '80s must focus on economic rights and opportunities," the governor said.

"I believe we can establish an agenda for the coming years that will address human and civil rights issues. The participants in today's meeting will build the foundation for that approach. We must develop an agenda that identifies the problems that confront us and work to solve them," he said.

Thompson said that under his administration, minority-owned businesses have been involved in state-funded projects, going beyond federal participation requirements. In addition, the governor said that a 15 percent goal set for minority business participation in construction of the State of Illinois Center was surpassed. At least 10 percent of all commercial space at the center will be leased to minority businesses, he said.

During his speech at the Executive Mansion, the governor said he has designated Tuesday, Dec. 6, as Human Rights Day in an effort to call attention to the conferences and advance economic opportunities for minorities.

"Since the creation of the Department of Human Rights in 1979, we've come far in our work to eliminate discrimination in all areas. More needs to be done. This confidence and others to follow will lay the groundwork in that effort," he said.

be a classic? Well, of course. Carl Reiner, who was the guiding light behind the original "Dick Van Dyke Show" of fond memory, writes in the foreword to a new book entitled "The Dick Van Dyke Show — Anatomy of a Classic," as follows:

"I might argue about the title calling The Dick Van Dyke Show a classic. I think the word 'classic' should be reserved for a work that endures longer than 20 years, but I won't quibble. Perhaps 'The Dick Van Dyke Show: Anatomy of a Classy Bunch' would be better, because this was a classy bunch of people. Maybe you need classy people to make a classic. In that context, I would accept the word 'classic.'"

And then Reiner concludes with said that the book was a collaborative effort has been said so many times, but it's absolutely true. The Dick Van Dyke Show was a totally nourishing experience."

And, one aspect, to the authors of the book, Harvey Weisman and Steve Sanders, the effort had elements of a labor of affection. An ornate paperback, the book (under the St. Martin's imprint) is written with the verve that is appropriate for such a show. And the photographs, the old ones dating back to the '60s, beset the faded memories in the manner of snippets of old, half-forgotten songs.

In its inception, the show began with a notion of Carl Reiner's, to wit: He would write a series to star himself as a television comedy

1 writer.

2 "I thought," Reiner

3 notes, "what ground did

4 stand on that no one else

5 stands on?" Reiner recalls

6 asking himself that ques-
7 tion and answering: "I am
8 an actor and writer who
9 worked on the Sid Caesar
10 shows. That's a different 11 matter: the horse line of 12 a television writer."

13 And indeed a pilot film
14 was made and Reiner
15 played the writer named
16 Rob Petrie and Barbara
17 Britton was his wife,
18 Laura. The half-hour went
19 under the title of "Head
20 of the Family," it was well
21 received in one showing as 22 part of the "Comedy
23 Spot" series, but it was a 24 time of westerns.

25 Undeterred, Reiner took
26 his project to Sheldon
27 Leonard, who with Danny

Thomas had created the Room for Daddy"
and "The Andy Griffith
Show" and "The Real McCoys." Leonard, wary of the ways of the TV comedy, suggested that the show might succeed if it were recast. Leonard, in fact, wrote his suggestion very carefully: "I believe that if recast, the show would have every chance of making it."

Reiner, not listening too carefully, missed the inspection and said, "No, I don't want to do it again."

Then Leonard explained his full meaning. "Carl," he said, "you're not right for what you wrote for yourself."

But, as we all know, Dick Van Dyke was altogether perfect for the role and so were the others -- Mary Martin, John Fiedler, and

1987
Larry Mathews as the kid,
Morey Amsterdam and Rose Marie as the comedy writers working under Van Dyke, Richard Deacon as Mel the producer and Reiner himself as the star of the show within the show.
